Depression Caused Death Of Over 1500

LONDON, Feb. 4 (UP)—Weather experts said today "Depression Z for Zero" caused the storm and flood that killed more than 1,500 persons on the low-lying coasts of the North Sea.

That was the storm code they used to describe the natural force that sent millions of tons of water crashing through Holland's earthen dikes in its worst flood in five centuries.

"Depression Z for Zero" began in the form of a baby cyclone that caused an insignificant disturbance in the Atlantic Ocean off the Azores last week.

Weathermen said it would have huffed and puffed itself out without further aid had it not been fed by another natural force.

A massive layer of warm air stretching from Iceland to Africa advanced slowly on the cold cyclone. As the warm air inched forward, parts of the mass became detached and flowed into the main storm.

The union of high atmospheric pressure of the warm air and the low pressure of the cold air in the cyclone created the new storm. It arrived at the wide North Sea entrance at the same time as full-moon tides rose. This was the combination that hurled the sea through the defenses of Holland and Belgium.

Storm gales drove water from the Atlantic Ocean into the wide northern mouth of the North Sea faster than it could escape through the narrow English Channel at the southern end.

So the rising, sea-driven tides overflowed, first washing out Hunstanton, England, known as the "Little Corner of America" because a U. S. air field is located there, and then flooding the low countries on the continent.

As "Depression Z for Zero" moved inland toward Germany, it began losing its force and veered off to Austria.

The farther it traveled from the North Sea the feebler it became and at last, it vanished like a sigh.

Davies Under Fire For Federal Job

By John L. Steele
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (UP)—Senator Walter B. Davies testified today that on the basis of his service in Russia with John Paton Davies Jr., he "saw nothing to draw a conclusion" that the diplomat was disloyal.

Smith was ambassador to Moscow between 1946 and 1948. Davies served on his staff part of this time. Davies has been under fire by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on grounds he allegedly urged employment by the Central Intelligence Agency CIA of four persons tabbed by the subcommittee as Communists.

Davies was cleared of charges by the Loyalty Review Board after Smith testified, previously, it was this testimony that Smith reviewed today with White House permission for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee is considering Smith's fitness to be undersecretary of state. He also told the committee that the best the United States can obtain by a policy of "containment" against Russia is "a draw."

EXPERT STEALS FISH

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—Joseph Neville complained to police that a fish expert stole $55.99 worth of tropical fish from his aquarium.

Neville said he knew the thief was a fish expert because he took only the most valuable specimens.

James Lassiter Named Chairman Of Boy Scout Finance Campaign

Senator James Lassiter has been named Chairman of the Boy Scouts Finance Campaign for Murray and Calloway Counties. Members of the Finance Committee include Henry Holton, District Finance Chairman, Robert Miller, Lester Nanney, T. Slodd, and Ellis Hanson, Chairman of the Happy Valley District, Boy Scouts of America. Members of the Special Gifts Committee and the solicitors will be named within the next few days.

Mr. Lassiter, a local attorney, has announced that the campaign will be made available to a larger number of boys in this area. Al Hughes, Scout Executive, is assisted in this undertaking by Walter Goodwin, Field Scout Executive who serves Calloway, Marshall and Graves Counties.

In addition, a large number of local volunteers have assisted in making the Scouting and Cubbing program available to the youth of this area. Scout officials report that in addition to the regular Scout Troops, an active Cub Pack, and an Explorer Unit for older boys are now operating.

Scouting will be stressed during the next few days as Scout Week activities get under way. Local units are planning special exercises, window displays will be made, and the radio station will carry a special Scout program each Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. In addition six local boys have been accepted by the Council for the National Jamboree which will be held in California next summer. Local adult leaders are expected to accompany these boys.

Scout officials point out that Scouting is a program to help boys grow physically, mentally, morally, spiritually, and socially, as they develop into leaders in their communities. Governmental officials point out that Scouting has done much to help prevent juvenile delinquency among youth. Chairman Lassiter urges each citizen to support this worthwhile program for the boys in this county.

Elmus Wilson Dies Tuesday

Elmus Wilson, age 75, passed away yesterday at his home on Hazel Route 2 from complications. He is survived by his wife Mrs. Wilson of Hazel Route 2, two daughters, Mrs. Opal Clark of Highland Park, Michigan and Mrs. Corlie Stubbfield of Hazel Route 2. One son, Earl Nix Wilson of Hazel Route 2, two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Craig of Murray Route 5 and Mrs. Jake Perry of Hazel Route 2. He had six grandchildren. The funeral will be held today at 2:30 at the Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church with Bro. J. H. Smith officiating.

Burial will be in the church cemetery. The Miller Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Serious Drama To Be Held Tonight

The curtain rises tonight at 8:30 at the Murray College auditorium on the first presentation of "Hotel Universe," featuring Prof. W. J. Robertson, dramatics director, in a central role.

Professor Robertson, playing Stephen Field, a retired American electrical engineer, will be appearing on the MSC stage for the first time during the three-night showing February 4-6 of the Philip Barry drama.

"Hotel Universe" is the first serious drama to be presented at Murray this season and is the first serious drama since the presentation of "The Glass Menagerie" in 1949.

The play has a universal appeal. It deals with real problems of society, and there is magic and unreal beauty in the play. The play offers more than the entertainment derived from comedies. It engages the emotions and the seeing of the play is a high adventure, according to Director Robertson.

DULLES, STASSEN AT WHITE HOUSE BEFORE TAKEOFF

New ROK Division Is In Action

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 4 (UP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, 8th Army commander, announced today a new Republic of Korea division is fighting on the eastern front and that enough trained ROK troops are available for two more divisions.

Van Fleet announced the 15th Division had gone into action—the 13th ROK Division manning the 155-mile front along with seven U. S. divisions, one British Commonwealth division and smaller units from other members of the United Nations.

American dive-bombers, poked through dense clouds to demolish a troop billeting area at Pangdong U.N. headquarters announced 100 Reds were killed or wounded in the big Allied raid on the western front Tuesday—biggest one-day toll this year.

Two more ROK divisions will be ready to move into the fight as soon as they receive necessary equipment in the continuing program to man as much of the line as possible with ROK forces.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The trial of nine persons on gambling charges was halted when juror Walter Oen, 48, was arrested on a warrant charging him with gambling.

Firemen Called To McDougall Home

Firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Elin McDougall on North 8th Street Tuesday night about 6:15. Mrs. McDougall was preparing supper when she was called downstairs by a neighbor to a telephone.

She said that she forgot to turn off the stove when she left. A skillet of meat caught fire, but the blaze was extinguished by Mrs. McDougall when she threw flour on the flaming skillet.

Fans were used to pull the smoke and odor from the home. Little damage was reported.

Word Received Of Wendell Herndon

Word was received by the family of Pvt. Wendell C. Herndon, that he has arrived safely in Seoul, Korea. Pvt. Herndon is a radio repairman and at the present time is thirty miles behind the front lines.

Pvt. Herndon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herndon of Murray Route 5. His wife, Mrs. Henrietta Herndon, resides on North Fifth Street and is employed at the College Cleaners.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 4 (UP)—The police asked T. O. Tompkins why he appeared so "tired" while paying a $1 fine for overtime parking.

"I'm just glad to see those things work so well," Tompkins said. His firm supplies the city with parking meters.

New Storm Threatens Holland

By Robert Musel
United Press Staff Correspondent

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Feb. 4—A fierce new storm lashed the flood-stricken coasts of the Netherlands and Great Britain today, threatening more than 14,000 persons isolated in low-lying areas.

The death toll had reached 1,500 in the weekend hurricane-driven flood that hit Holland, Britain, Belgium, Germany and France, and was still mounting.

Tonight, as gale warnings went out, the Netherlands Radio announced that 8,700 persons were in danger along the coast of this country.

Six thousand persons were endangered in the Ouse River Valley in eastern England.

A 45-mile wind hurled mounting North Sea waves against the battered dikes of Holland. Waves driven by a 50-mile wind hit the British coast.

Helicopters dropping medical supplies and food to isolated Netherlands were recalled as the winds grew fiercer. Small boats took to shelter.

"Waves are battering the dikes and some temporary sandbags are being washed away," a United Press reporter on the spot reported.

In northern Scotland the wind rose to 76 miles an hour.

The sea rose steadily along the North Sea coasts, and the tide was sweeping in.

Deaths in the Netherlands totaled 1,223 tonight and it was feared the final total would approach 2,000. Some 300,000 persons were homeless.

Britain counted 449 dead, Belgium 20 and Germany 7.

An international rescue army worked doggedly along the Netherlands coast to rescue survivors and rebuild damaged dikes as the new storm hit.

Rescue Squad To Meet Tonight

The Murray Rescue Squad will meet tonight in their regular monthly meeting at the City Hall with President John Shroet presiding.

All members of the organization are requested to attend this meeting. The meeting is called for 7:00 o'clock.

HOOKE IS RIGHT

BEDFORD, Ind., Feb. 4 (UP)—Grocer Ray Lee cashed a check for $10.37.

His bank marked it "no funds" and returned it.

The check was signed, "U. R. Hooke," and the bank told Lee, "you're sure."

No Announcement to Come From White House Says Hagerty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (UP)—The White House said today it has no intention of announcing when President Eisenhower issues his order directing the 7th Fleet to stop shielding Red China from the Nationalists on Formosa.

The President said in his State of the Union message Monday that he was "issuing instructions that the 7th Fleet no longer be employed to shield Communist China."

Asked again today whether the order had been issued, Hagerty said, "I know nothing about it. I assume my position will continue to be that."

Asked whether Mr. Eisenhower had changed his mind about issuing the order, Hagerty first refused to answer. Then he said, "of course not."

"If we understand you correctly," a reporter said, "there will be no information now or in the future as to the orders to the 7th Fleet."

"At present," Hagerty said, "that is correct."

Asked how this could be a security matter since the President himself had said he was "issuing" orders to the fleet, Hagerty declined to comment.

WASHINGTON.—High-ranking military men are advocating a rapid increase in weapons shipments to Chinese Nationalists on Formosa and to French forces battling Communists in Indo-China, it was learned today.

Within six to nine months, according to an excellent source, the Nationalists could become a powerful force.

"I am manager of Kuhn's ten cent store and each Saturday I have to put up with two or three members of Jehovah's Witnesses who stand on the sidewalk in front of my store and distribute literature to everybody who comes down the street."

"They attempt to stop customers entering the store and leaving, as well as people on the street," his letter read.

Assistant Attorney General B. M. Hoffield wrote.

"We are sorry that we cannot offer you any legal relief from any religious organization that insists upon making itself a common nuisance in its distribution of literature at the door of your store when such literature is liable to cause controversy."

"The problem you present to this department is not one under the state police regulations, but a federal problem under amendment sections one and fourteen of the federal Constitution."

"These amendments have been so construed by the majority opinion of the Supreme Court as to bar both federal and state police from interfering with the distribution of religious literature upon the streets, sidewalks, and at the doors of any business plant."

Battle Casualties Total 129,424

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (UP)—American battle casualties in Korea now total 129,424, an increase of 271 over last week's report, the Defense Department said today.

The casualties include all those whose next of kin have been notified through last Friday.

The casualties include 22,622 dead, 95,789 wounded, 9,286 missing, 2,730 captured, and 1,395 previously missing but returned to military control.

The Defense Department said about 85 per cent of the wounded have returned to duty.

Police Cannot Stop Spread Of Literature

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Federal and state police cannot interfere with religious groups distributing literature along streets and in front of business houses within towns and cities, the attorney general's office ruled today.

"It gave an opinion for Walter Cox, manager of Kuhn's ten cent store who wrote the attorney general."

Liquor In The White House Was Not Winked on In Hayes Tenure

By Harman W. Nicholson,
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON. — The report that the White House served cocktails and foreign ministers something stronger than limonade was turned with a wink.
 But there was no winking in the administration of President James B. Hayes. The President and his cabinet were not winking at anything.
 Historical records show that Hayes was against intoxication. He was against the use of liquor in the White House. He was against the use of liquor in the White House.
 As a young lawyer and an officer in the Union Army, Hayes played a little poker, smoked cigars, took a small spot of rum here and there, and even owned a little vineyard. But by the time he entered the White House, he had abandoned all these habits.
 Secretary of State William M. Evans tried without success to lead the President in drinking. Hayes refused. He refused to drink. He refused to drink.
 The President was reported to have said: "When I was in the White House, I was not winking at anything. I was not winking at anything. I was not winking at anything."

Bob Feller Lacked Control He Reflects

By Bob Morrison
 United Press Sports Writer
 CLEVELAND, Feb. 3 (UP)—Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians looked back today on his 9-13 pitching record of last season and blamed his poor showing on a lack of control.
 "I've checked back and found that almost every time I got into trouble, it was a matter of control," he said. "I'll do all right again next season if I can just regain that control."
 Feller's 1932 record was his worst in 14 major league seasons and marked the first time he ever had lost more than he won.
 In attempting to explain his sub-standard showing, Feller did not blame anyone. Cleveland critics have laid much of the blame on the team's lack of support in the field, but Feller himself said that he was a lone farm boy who came out of the West with a pre-atomic fireball in 1926 and since then has been practically re-written the record book.
 "I think my luck just ran out last year," the 34-year old right-hander said.
 "If I just have half as much luck this year as I did in 1931, I'll do all right," he said. In 1931, Feller's 22-8 was the best winning percentage in the American League.
 Feller, who started with a far ball, has developed what is considered one of the best curves in the business. Asked if he had anything new to show, Feller replied: "Well, no. I'll try to revive some of my old stuff and regain that control I feel I lost last year. I always do at this time of year."
 In the overall picture, Feller reflected that the Indians' biggest difficulty was fielding. The team finished eighth in the league in defense and had some notably poor individual performances. Shortstop Ray Boone was the worst, but Feller said that "Boone was a sick boy."
 "He had 12 teeth, I think it was pulled and got back in the lineup soon," Feller said.
 Feller, who has three teeth apiece for his credit, continued: "If our defense could improve even slightly, the hitting hold-up and the pitching as well as last year, we can't be counted out."
 The Feller family just came shuffling home from a flu-ridden vacation in Wisconsin, which cost him several pounds. He said he was not relaxing this winter, taking no strenuous calisthenics, and not observing a rigid diet.
 Despite this laissez-faire regimen, for Feller, who is something of a physical culturist, he is just about at his 140-pound playing weight. Monday's chief ambition has been to win 300 games or better. Three years of World War II service, however, eliminated the possibility of such a feat. At 34, Feller sees the handwriting of failure time on the pitcher's right wall and has promised to quit once he can no longer be of value to the team.
 However, Feller has been counted out several times before and, each time has belittled his critics by coming up with a 20-game winning streak. He has won 20 games six seasons.
 Laughing about past years when he rapped his contract, which included a reported $100,000 plan, Feller said: "The big money men say I'm a sucker. However, I plan to beat them this week with General Manager Hank Greiner, who, I expect, to carve another one out of his estimate. $45,000 only he expects of me. I've won 32 record."

Racers Win In Poor Game Last Night

By Joe Wilson
 Murray's Thoroughbred winners over two Florida clubs already this season, turned in one of their "poor" games last night when they dropped another Florida aggregation, 78-62 at the Car Health Building. This time it was Tampa that was treated. On a Southern road trip the Racers defeated Rollins, Fla., and Miami in order. From the start the Racers turned in what might be called a constant for Saturday nights game with Kentucky. Wesleyan, always a Murray toughie. The Racers stood by, Garrett Beshar's old saying "play the hardest when you have to and when you don't have to do it."
 Even though Hodges' unit pulled out in front by an early 10-point lead, the Tampa unit threatened the Racers lead several times. After the contest started rolling, the closest the Spartans could get to the Racers was a 30-23 margin starting the third quarter.
 Garrett didn't display everything he had during the game but the old master poured in 22 points for the nights high scoring honors. He was on the boards with Led Unershtall, Murray forward that scored 17 points. Guard Howie Crittenden seemed to be missing more for the night than any other of the State players. This stylish player, Claude Mieria, tossed in 16 points and didn't hit a third of his shots. However, with one of his best floor performances of the season, Crittenden led the Racers in points and rebounds.
 Meets Ky. Wesleyan
 At 8:00 p.m. Saturday the Racers took on one of their toughest foes. The Panthers, Kentucky Wesleyan, 6-8 pointer, tossed in 10 points for second high honors.
 The popular jockey, who rode his first winner on May 18, 1933 at Beulah Park, tossed in 10 points for second high honors.

Green Manure Helps to Maintain Soil Fertility

Field of blue lupin planted as a green manure cover crop, following cotton and to be followed by sweet potatoes.
 Nature does a good job in maintaining soil fertility without help from man, especially in protecting the soil from erosion and restoring organic matter. The use of cover or green-manure crops in combination with cultivated crops is an effort to profit from nature's lessons. If agriculture is to be permanent, soils must be managed so as to maintain productivity and stay in place where they can be utilized instead of being washed into streams and lost for all time.
 The practice of using cover crops for green manure by turning them under while green is almost as old as agriculture itself. But only recently have we come to a fuller understanding of the manifold benefits of the practice. (1) In adding organic matter to the soil, (2) reducing soil erosion, (3) in helping maintain soil fertility through addition of organic matter and nitrogen, and retention of mineral elements, (4) in improvement of the mechanical condition of the soil, and (5) in furnishing a better medium for beneficial soil organisms.
 Green manure crops are grown more often in fall and winter than in summer when most cash crops must be grown. Summer green manure crops, however, are often practical and profitable in a sound rotation program. Among the most useful are such legumes as red clover, soybeans, cowpeas, sweetclover, lespedeza, and vetch.
 Winter green manure crops which survive temperatures of 0° to 15° F or lower and make some growth during this period, are commonly used in the Cotton Belt. The winter legumes most commonly used are hairy and smooth vetch, Austrian winter pea, crimson clover, bur-clover, sourclover, Willamette vetch and blue lupine.
 Non-legumes such as Sudan-grass, pearl millet, winter rye, ryegrass and buckwheat may also be used as green manure crops. Sometimes they fit into the crop system better than legumes.
 There are many ways that cover or green-manure crops can be used. The principal points to consider are (1) to keep the ground covered with vegetation or mulch as nearly as possible all the time, (2) add as much organic matter to the soil as possible and (3) still take a sufficient amount of produce from the land to make the practice profitable.
 Since there are so many crops suitable for green manure from which to choose, the farmer can give consideration to all factors in making his selection. He should confer with his county agent as to the best practice and his seed supplier as to price and availability of seed. He can then determine which would be the most suitable and economical of the kinds available to use.

Sugar Bowl Teams Are Named

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—The Mid-Winter Sports Association announced today that Louisiana State University, Fordham, DePaul and Holy Cross will meet in the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament here December 19-30.
 Albert Wachenheim Jr., Chairman of the Sugar Bowl Basketball Committee, said the four had been extended invitations to participate in the event and that all had accepted. LSU is defending champion, beating St. Louis for the honor in the recent tournament.
 Fordham and DePaul will be newcomers to the tournament, while Holy Cross last participated in the event in 1928.
 Louisiana State will return with all but one player who played in the last tournament. It is the only unbeaten team in the Southeastern Conference at the present and appears headed for the conference crown.

NANCY

SLUGGO --- HOW ABOUT LUNCH AT MY HOUSE?

OKAY, PEEWEE

Dear God, thanks!" breathed Deborah.

She got up from her chair. She had to get outside and let a few tears run. "If there isn't anything I should do..." Her voice was not quite steady.

Rudolph Peterson frowned the room to her, put his hand under her arm. "Not now—later there'll be papers to sign. We'll discuss you when. Let me take you out to your car."

She gave a nod to the others that passed her word of parting with him out of the office, to the yard where her car was parked.
His hand stayed on her arm.

"You're shaking, Deborah!"
"Yes, and I want to cry, too.
Isn't it silly? I used to be like this whenever Willie had to give in —I'd be glad he did and sorry for him at the same time."

"He stayed in character to the finish, didn't he? Is that your New England background?"

"Perhaps."
He opened the door of her car, helped her in, closed it. But he stood outside it, one hand on the open window.

"I suppose you realize, Deborah, that we're partners in industry now?"

"I hadn't thought of it that way
—I want. You know very well that you don't need petitions to help you run things!"

Rudolph Peterson threw a quick look over the yard, leaned through the window toward her. "Maybe I do—when it's a woman like you."

A sudden red ran up over his cheekbones. "I'm not good at this but I've been thinking—wishing that we could be more than partners..."

Deborah broke in quickly. "Why, we are!" She put her hand over his. "We're friends. Good friends.
We'll always be."

He stepped back. His smile, though warm, was a little forced and did not hide the deep disappointment in his eyes. "That's a promise?"

"Yes."
He lifted his hand and she lifted hers and drove out of the yard.

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. Ophayon McClure returned home Monday night from a northern motor trip in which they visited Mr. and Mrs. A. A.
Mueshe of Big Falls, Minn. Mrs.
Mueshe and Mr. McClure were in the Army together and this was the first time they had seen each other in eight years. They also visited in Chicago, Ill. and Milwaukee, Wis. The snow was about six or eight inches in depth in the northern state, but the roads were in good shape and snow plows are used constantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vaughn and children, Jane and Robert, were the guests of relatives in Nashville, Tenn., Sunday.

Liquor In The White House Was Not Winked on In Hayes Tenure

By Harman W. Nichols

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UPI)—

That the White House served wine and liquor to guests during the tenure of President James A. Hayes was not winked on by the administration, according to historians and biographers.

Hayes, who served from 1876 to 1880, was the first President to serve a full term.

His administration was marked by the end of the

SPORTS

Bob Feller Lacked Control He Reflects

By Bob Morrison

United Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Feb. 3 (UPI)—

Feller of the Cleveland Indians looked back today on his

9-13 pitching record of last season and blamed his poor showing on a lack of control.

"I've checked back and found that almost every time I got into trouble, it was a matter of control," he said. "I'll do all right next season if I can just again that control."

Feller's 1952 record was his worst in 14 major league seasons and marked the first time he, ever lost more than one win.

In attempting to explain his substandard showing, Feller did not blame anyone. Cleveland critics have laid much of the blame on the team's shaky defense, but Feller said he had no control over the defense. He said he

Racers Win In Poor Game Last Night

By Joe Wilson

Murray's Thoroughbred winners over two Florida clubs already this season turned in one of their "poor" games last night when they topped another Florida club, 79-62 at the Clay Heath

Building. This time it was Tampa that was treated. On a Southern road trip the Racers defeated

Rollins, Fla., and Miami in order.

From the start the Racers turned in what might be called a coast-er for Saturday night's game with Kentucky Wesleyan, always a

Murray's toughie. The Racers stood at 79-62 at the Clay Heath

Building. This time it was Tampa

PARKER MOTORS Kentucky's Oldest Nash Dealer Observing Our Twenty-Fifth Year With Nash Motors

WE ARE PROUD that we have been in business in Murray for the past twenty-five years, and we are proud of the fact that we have had the Nash dealership for that period of time.

With our remaining with Nash over this quarter of a century period our customers can rest assured at all times, that their needs can be taken care of.

Parker Motors is also proud of the fact that we have been a six time winner of Nash Motors "10-point Select Dealer" award.

This award is the top honor Nash can bestow on a dealer for "highest standards of financial responsibility, dealer sales and service, business practice and methods, and other requirements needed for outstanding customer relations."

We would be shortsighted indeed not to realize that our growth and development is due to the patronage extended to us during the past twenty-five years by the people of Murray and Calloway County.

We appreciate the business you have given us and will try to give even better service than we have given in the past.
